PRICE TREND

Up on last year, cooler than the spring peak

The Acres — average price per sq ft (AED)

Property Monitor Dynamic Price Index, June 2025 – June 2026

The index peaked around AED 1,683 per sq ft and has eased about 2.6% this quarter to AED 1,639 — still ahead of last year. What that means in practice: buyers are active (25 transfers in five months), but they're negotiating. Villas priced against real DLD evidence are the ones selling; aspirational asking prices are sitting. There are currently 350+ listings competing in the community, so pricing and presentation decide who transacts.

CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

Your community is funded and moving

Construction underway across The Acres. Imagery © Meraas.

In April 2026 Meraas awarded AED 2.4 billion in new construction contracts across The Acres and The Acres Estates — on top of AED 1.9 billion awarded in late 2025. Foundations are complete on 220+ villas and superstructures are rising.

First handovers are expected from late 2027, with the main wave through 2028. That timeline matters for your decision below: the window between now and handover is when the resale market is thinnest — and when serious buyers pay for certainty.

THE DECISION

Sell now, or hold to handover? An honest view

If you're considering selling

There is real demand — 25 owners exited in five months. But with 350+ competing listings, three things decide whether you transact:

- Evidence-based pricing. Deals close at AED 1,640–1,710/sq ft. We price from your cluster's DLD comparables, not hope.
- Plot story. Lagoon-facing, corner and large-plot villas are clearing at the top of the range — up to AED 1,959/sq ft.
- Buyer reach. The active buyers now are end-users planning their 2028 move — they buy from brokers who can show them the data.

If you're leaning towards holding

Also a strong position — and we'll tell you when it's the better one:

- Communities like Arabian Ranches 3 and Tilal Al Ghaf saw their strongest price moves after handover, once homes became real and mortgageable.
- On the 65/35 plan, your final 35% isn't due until handover — time is on your side.
- The smart move today is simply knowing your number — so you can act the moment the market or your plans change.
