INTRODUCTION

Marwan Wareth

International Sales Manager

Bridges & Allies

My name is Marwan Wareth, and I'm honored to guide you through some of the UAE's — and especially Dubai's — most promising real estate opportunities. With over 11 years in the UAE market, I represent Bridges & Allies, an agency known for integrity, transparency, and a client-first approach.

Let me be straightforward with you about today's market. After an exceptional growth run, Dubai is in a natural consolidation phase — and as in every previous cycle, this will be absorbed and the market will move forward in the coming period, just as it always has.

At the same time, Dubai is witnessing a remarkable AI and technology jump — global companies and capital are relocating here — and the government's Dubai 2040 Urban Master Plan is steadily reshaping the city around new growth corridors.

Everyone is waiting for a market bottom. But smart investors like yourself are not waiting — they are looking for the golden opportunities. In the next few slides, I will show you exactly where they are.

The goal is simple:

- To give you an honest, realistic picture of the market today
- To show you where the golden opportunities are right now
- To help you make a confident, well-timed investment decision

WHY INVEST IN DUBAI NOW?

One of the safest and most profitable real estate markets to invest in today

Safe Haven Amid Global Instability

- Political stability, safety, and long-term security while many regions face uncertainty
- Ranked among the safest cities globally with a highly regulated, investor-friendly market

High ROI & Tax-Free Income

- Strong rental yields, typically 5-8% net in growth corridors
- 0% income tax and no capital gains tax
- Full ownership and 100% repatriation of profits

Residency Through Investment

- AED 2M+ investment qualifies for the 10-year Golden Visa for you and your family

Ongoing Growth & Capital Appreciation

- Backed by visionary government initiatives and mega projects (D33, Al Maktoum Airport)
- Strong appreciation potential, especially in early-phase off-plan properties

Dubai Tax vs Typical European Tax

Tax Type	Dubai (UAE)	Typical Europe (Germany, France, UK)
Income Tax on Rental Income	0% — rental income is tax-free locally	Up to 45%, significantly reducing net yields
Annual Property Tax	0% — no recurring ownership tax	0.2%-2.5%+ of property value every year
Capital Gains Tax	0% — full profit retained on resale	Up to 25-36%+ (Germany 25%, France ~36%)
Inheritance / Wealth Tax	0% on property transfers	Up to 40%+ depending on value and relation
Transfer / Registration Fees	4% one-time DLD fee	4-10% stamp duty plus notary costs

Verify your personal tax position in your country of tax residence — worldwide-income rules may apply.

Two Ways to Win in Dubai Real Estate

Dubai's population profile has structurally shifted toward longer-term, family-oriented residents, creating more predictable demand for both strategies.

Short-Term Investor (Capital Rotation)

- Focus: off-plan launches, early-phase pricing, emerging locations, exit before or near handover
- Typical timeframe: 12-24 months
- Return profile: 8-12% annualized, mainly price appreciation
- Risks: market timing, liquidity, transaction costs (DLD, agent fees)

Long-Term Investor (Growth & Stability)

- Focus: established family communities, townhouses, prime residential locations
- Typical timeframe: 5-10 years
- Return profile: 6-8% net rental yields plus 40-70% appreciation over 5-7 years in prime areas
- Upside: low turnover, tenant loyalty, compounding value, long-term visa benefits

Where We Go From Here

When you find interest in any of the projects presented, I'm sure you'll have many questions. I'm more than happy to jump on a call at your convenience to discuss everything in detail.

From there, I can help arrange visits to these developers during your trip, so you can see the projects first hand. Please note that many of these projects tend to sell out quickly, so timely action is recommended.
